The costs shown may have changed – please check with each agency.

Please note:

People wishing to work in schools and children's services must undertake a specific child protection training course in order to gain employment in those sectors. The required training course is titled Responding to Abuse and Neglect - Education and Care and is only available through the following providers. (The full day course is a pre-employment requirement; the update course is undertaken every three years and normally provided through the employer)
